[Copyright, 1922, By The Chicago Tribune.]
LONDON, Nov. 14.—The near east situation was described today in British official circles as being much better. News from Constantinople suggests that the allied generals no longer found it necessary to proclaim martial law. Four parleys between the British, French, and Italian legations have been held since the Lausanne conference began.

Great Britain today sent a long memorandum setting forth its views on the near east situation. The memorandum is reported to be in a state of confusion. The memorandum is reported to be in a state of confusion.

G. O. P. MAJORITY TO BE FIFTEEN IN NEW HOUSE, CLERK SAYS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—William Tyler Page, clerk of the house of representatives, has compiled an unofficial list of members elected to the house Nov. 7 based on the latest information, which gives the political divisions as follows:

Republican ..... 225
Democratic ..... 207
Independent ..... 1
Farmer-Labor ..... 1
Socialist ..... 1

This would give the Republicans control by a margin of fifteen over and above their political opponents, provided all those in the unofficial list are seated, and seven more than the majority of 218.

Witness Ready to Contradict Rector's Widow

New Brunswick, N. J., Nov. 14.—[By the Associated Press.]—Testimony that Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall left her home about 8 o'clock the night her husband, the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, were slain will be placed before the Somerset county grand jury next week, it was learned tonight.

A hitherto unmentioned witness, a New Brunswick man, will tell the jury that he saw Mrs. Hall run hurriedly from her home to the house next door, occupied by her cousin Henry Carpenter, it was authoritatively announced. The name of the witness was not made known.

The testimony which Special Deputy Attorney General Mott hopes to place before the jurors through this witness is in direct conflict with the statement of Mrs. Hall as to her movements on the night of the tragedy, Sept. 14. She has reiterated that she did not leave her home until about 2 o'clock the following morning, when she went to seek her missing husband at the Church of St. John the Evangelist.

Existence of the new witness became known a short time after Mr. Mott had caused issuance of five subpoenas for the first day's quota of witnesses before the grand jury, which will begin taking testimony in the murder case next Monday.

LAUSANNE TO SEE CHILD, GREW, AND BRISTOL, ENVOYS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—Ambassador R. W. Child at Rome and Minister J. C. Grew at Bern will be the American observers at the near eastern conference at Lausanne, the state department announced today.

Rear Admiral Bristol, high commissioner at Constantinople, will be named associate commissioner, as his other duties will not permit him to be in continuous attendance at the conference.

The scope of American participation in the proceedings at Lausanne was defined by Secretary Hughes in advance of receipt of the actual invitation. In his communication to the allied governments of Oct. 30 Mr. Hughes said:

"To safeguard such [American] interests and to facilitate the exchange of views the government of the United States is prepared to send observers to the proposed conference if this action is agreeable to the powers concerned. Without participating in the negotiations of the treaty of peace, these observers would be able to indicate this government's position in greater detail than is possible in this memorandum and they could also inform the American government of the attitude of the other powers in matters where there are mutual interests."

Chicago Polish Consul Named Senator in Poland

Sigmund Nowicki, Polish consul general in Chicago, yesterday was notified he had been elected to the senate of Poland at an election held Sunday. He plans to leave Chicago for Europe within a few weeks. He said last night he had no information as to who will be his successor here.

WRIGHT OF "LOVE BUNGALOW" FAME OBTAINS DIVORCE

Madison, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The last chapter of the "Love bungalow" romance of Frank Lloyd Wright, former Oak Park architect, whose "soul mate," Mamah Borthwick, and her two children were murdered and cremated in the bungalow at Spring Green, Wis., eight years ago, was written yesterday at Baraboo, when Judge E. Ray Stevens granted Wright a separation from Catharine L. Wright, Chicago social worker.

Mrs. Wright, who now and again defended her husband when he was in danger of prosecution as a result of his relations with "Mamah of the Hills" and who received him into her home after his "spiritual hegira," did not contest the suit.

Wright obtained the divorce on grounds of voluntary separation from his wife for more than five years.

MRS. MAC SWINEY AND 2 PICKETERS JAILED; 6 GET BAIL

Police End Demonstration at British Embassy.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney, widow of Terence MacSwiney, the lord mayor of Cork, who died in prison on a hunger strike, and two others of nine women arrested for picketing the British embassy, today elected to remain in the house of detention over night and refused bond for their appearance at a hearing before a United States commission tomorrow.

The other six accepted bond furnished by Thomas W. Lyons, national secretary of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, of which the women are members. Remaining with Mrs. MacSwiney were Mrs. Mary Ann Nolan of Jacksonville, Fla., who is more than 80 years of age, and Miss Minnie Kearney.

Protest Mary's Arrest.

The arrests were made soon after the women started their demonstration in protest at the detention of Miss Mary MacSwiney, sister of Terence, who is a prisoner of the Irish Free State. The police took them into custody by order of the United States District Attorney Gordon after they had issued a warning against picketing the embassy.

The women armed with banners marched to the embassy and swung around the building. When they returned to the front entrance they were arrested.

Mrs. MacSwiney Has Banner.

Mrs. MacSwiney was garbed in black and bore a banner which read: "England murdered my husband, Terence MacSwiney. Will Americans permit the English Free State to murder his sister, Mary MacSwiney?"

All the women arrested, with the exception of Mrs. MacSwiney and Mrs. Nolan, gave their addresses as Washington. They were Miss Kearney, Mrs. Beale Quinn, Mrs. Sarah M. Buhlin, Mrs. Claudia Geary, Miss Louise Manning, Mrs. Mary E. Ballhaus, and Miss Nora Hennigan.

John F. Finerty, president of the American Association for the recognition of the Irish republic, their counsel, stated tonight that they would plead not guilty at the hearing tomorrow on the grounds that they had violated no law.

S. O. S. TO BRYAN: EVANSTON VOTES FOR BEER, WINE!

Beer and light wines were approved in Evanston, birthplace of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, by a substantial majority, according to the count of the vote announced yesterday at the office of County Clerk Switzer, 4,811 voters approving modification of the Volstead act with 4,397 against. One precinct in the town is missing, but its total vote is not large enough to alter the result.

For years Evanston has been the national headquarters of the W. C. T. U., and the dries had counted it as one of the greatest strongholds in the state. More than 9,000 votes were cast on the prohibition question, indicating that a large majority of Evanston citizens availed themselves of the opportunity to express their opinion.

MERGER OF "BIG FIVE" PACKING HOUSES TALKED

Armour Visit to Capital Starts Rumors.

Rumors involving a possible merger of Chicago's big five packing companies into one great combination were started last night, following the arrival there of J. Ogden Armour for conferences with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and other federal authorities.

These reports, while unverified, gained considerable credence in some quarters. The fact that Mr. Armour was accompanied by Arthur Meeker, president of Armour & Co., counsel and a corps of other experts was cited as supporting the merger talk.

A report current earlier in the day was that the proposed amalgamation would be of the Armour & Co. and the Morris & Co. interests only. It was estimated that the deal now representing $500,000,000 depends only upon approval of the federal trade commission and the department of justice.

Recent Moves Recalled.

Added support for belief that a giant merger is planned, it was pointed out, is to be found in the fact that Mr. Armour recently tried to gain control of the Wilson & Co. property. Then came an undenied report that Mr. Armour had made a definite offer for the Morris & Co. interests. But it was only yesterday that both the Wilson and the Cudahy Packing companies were woven in as parties to the supposed amalgamation scheme.

Mr. Armour, interviewed in Washington, declined to deny or confirm rumors. Mr. Meeker said he had gone to the capital to meet his daughter, Secretary Wallace, according to press dispatches, he consented to meet Attorney General Daugherty also probably would grant him an interview.

Trade Commission in Way?

But even if approval of the merger were obtained from the attorney general and his authors still would have to reckon with the federal trade commission, which upset one of the mergers of steel companies recently organized.

Mr. Daugherty passed upon both the Midvale and the Lackawanna Steel consolidations, declaring that neither satisfied any provisions of the anti-trust laws. The trade commission, however, was not satisfied and instituted proceedings against the Midvale merger, pronouncing it in contravention of law. Thereupon the Midvale merger was abandoned.

The trade commission has been fighting the packers for the last six or seven years, charging them with violating the anti-trust laws and other crimes and was largely responsible for forcing the separation of the meat packing industry from the wholesale grocery and other allied activities and for the legislation providing for government control of packing houses and stock yards.

Consent of the majority stockholders of Armour & Co. and Morris & Co. could doubtless be obtained, inasmuch as the Armour and Morris families control the bulk of the stocks of the respective companies.

Large Assets in Consolidation.

The combined capitalization of the five is $1,524,832,000, and the combined assets are $1,097,707,467.

A consolidation of Armour & Co. and Morris & Co. would constitute a corporation with total assets of $571,941,311, capital of $130,705,400, funded debt of $148,188,500, and surplus of $64,222,811, according to the annual reports of both companies for the fiscal year ended Oct. 20, 1921.

The commanding position of such a merger is evident from the fact that the combined total assets of Swift & Co., Wilson & Co., and the Cudahy Packing company, the remaining components of the big five packing group, would be $525,765,944, and their combined capital would be $204,128,800.

The following tabulation shows the chief items for the various companies:

	Capitalization	Total Assets
Armour & Co.	$150,708,400	$480,536,274
Morris & Co.	40,000,000	91,405,239
Combined	$190,708,400	$571,941,513
Swift & Co.	150,000,000	351,843,969
Wilson & Co.	30,328,800	102,150,957
Cudahy Packing	23,800,000	61,792,151
Total	$204,128,800	$525,765,944

Packing company officials in Chicago last night professed ignorance of merger plans.

FATHER BEATS EMPLOYER OF DAUGHTER, 16

What was seen from a window across the hall from the Max Weckler Clock and Suit company offices at 139 North Wells street yesterday afternoon led to the arrest of Max Weckler, the proprietor, on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and to a terrific beating administered to him by Frank Victor, father of Weckler's stenographer, the girl's uncle, and several volunteers.

The girl, Frieda Victor, 16 years of age, 4714 North Central avenue, exhibited two rings, valued at $1,500, and a wrist watch and fur coat she declared were given to her by Weckler, married and the father of two children at 714 Waveland avenue.

The girl's father said his daughter had been staying out late and that yesterday, with his brother, he watched Weckler's office from a hiding place. When Weckler recovered consciousness he said he was the victim of a frame-up. The girl was taken into custody by juvenile court authorities.

REUNITED AFTER 27 YEARS

After twenty-seven years Mamie Mangon, now Mrs. William Schlesinger of 2056 Cleveland avenue, and her brother, William Mangon, who grew up in the belief that he was Frank Able of Marinette, Wis., have been reunited as the result of a search made by the State bank of Chicago. Both will now seek their father, William Mangon, who was divorced from their mother and is believed to be unaware of their present whereabouts.

SEX CLASSES FOR PA AND MA, PLAN OF KLARKOWSKI

Trustee Would Have 'Em Impart Facts to Kids.

A plan to conduct classes in sex instruction in the public schools for parents of the children will be considered at the next meeting of the board of education.

According to the plan as outlined yesterday by Dr. Boleslaus Klarkowski, trustee at the board offices by Dr. Klarkowski, the classes will be opened at night in the various buildings for the classes. These would be conducted by men and women of recognized standing, including clergymen, lecturers, medical men, and welfare workers.

F. L. MOON DENIES WIFE'S CHARGES IN DIVORCE SUIT

Formal denial of charges of infidelity made against him by Mrs. Kathryn Groschup Moon, adopted daughter of the late Federal Judge Peter S. Groschup, in her bill for divorce, was filed yesterday by Frank Leslie Moon, former broker at 208 South La Salle street and brother-in-law of Claus Spreckels, California sugar magnate.

Mrs. Moon, formerly Mrs. Isaac Jordan, in her bill, filed by Attorney William Garnett, declared that during 1921 Moon was guilty of numerous indiscretions with other women. Because of his action, she asserted, Moon was unfit to have custody of their child, Peter Groschup Moon, and her child by a former marriage, Virginia G. Moon.

SEX CLASSES FOR PA AND MA, PLAN OF KLARKOWSKI

Trustee Would Have 'Em Impart Facts to Kids.

A plan to conduct classes in sex instruction in the public schools for parents of the children will be considered at the next meeting of the board of education.

According to the plan as outlined yesterday by Dr. Boleslaus Klarkowski, trustee at the board offices by Dr. Klarkowski, the classes will be opened at night in the various buildings for the classes. These would be conducted by men and women of recognized standing, including clergymen, lecturers, medical men, and welfare workers.

Problem Delicate One.

"It is the parents who should be trained in morality. They should be taught at the same time that they must not delegate their responsibilities to teachers. The problem of sex hygiene is delicate and difficult to solve. We are not all born with temperaments alike. If the subject is not tactfully handled such instruction may easily produce more harm than good."

Opposes Classes for Children.

The resolution, Dr. Klarkowski said, is designed as a substitute, to some extent, for the one passed last week calling upon Superintendent Morjeson to introduce sex instruction in the lower grades.

Dr. Klarkowski said he had voted against this legislation because he feels that the subject cannot be tactfully brought to the child mind in a class room.

"It is the function of mother or father to tell the plain facts of life to the child," he said. "We find, as Trustee Hanson has pointed out, that the younger generation is sadly lacking in morals. But from my seventeen years experience as a school teacher I doubt the wisdom of starting this campaign for cleaner lives among the children themselves.

"It is the parents who are at fault. Let us educate them."

Holds It Solves Birth Control.

Dr. Klarkowski declared the night classes he visualizes will not only strengthen the character of school children but will also solve to a large extent the problem of birth control.

"The whole problem of restricted parenthood is involved in the problem of ignorance," he said. "The better classes do not realize their responsibilities to society. The so-called poorer classes do not understand their responsibilities to their families. Too often people who cannot afford property to rear one or two or three children bring twice that number into the world. There will be no problems of this sort when our citizens become more enlightened. Birth control is practiced through ignorance."

Urges Self Control.

Spit control, not birth control, is the crying need, Dr. Klarkowski said, basing his statement upon a long medical practice. He said he would have the fathers and mothers well informed on this subject at his night classes.

"If we could have good parents in Chicago 90 per cent of the school children would be almost morally perfect, but where the parents are ignorant, indifferent, or actually immoral, what can we expect? We read every day of fathers or mothers committing all sorts of crimes. Ninety per cent of the failures in children's morals are due to wrong influences in the homes."

County Board's $15,000 Not Sufficient.

Action by the county board in appropriating $15,000 as an emergency fund for the school board inquiry and numerous written requests from citizens asking to whom checks should be made payable were taken yesterday by Chief Justice Michael L. McKinley and Attorney General Edward J. Brundage.

The county board's appropriation can be used only for the incidental expense of the grand jury. Under the law it cannot be used to employ assistant attorneys general to be appointed by Brundage. Brundage will need many lawyers to present evidence to the grand jury and to appear in the several courts where indictments are now awaiting action. The forty-five indictments are scattered through six courts, making it necessary to have at least one prosecutor in each court to represent the attorney general. These must be paid out of private subscription.

All those who inquired where to send contributions were informed that either Roger Sherman, president of the Chicago Bar association, or Attorney General Edward J. Brundage would receive them.

A committee of the bar association appeared before the finance committee of the county board during the morning and officially explained the status of the investigation, declaring that unless a fund of $150,000 were raised at once, the grand jury could not resume on Nov. 27.

"An Earnest" to the Public.

"One of the greatest crises ever faced by Chicago is existing now," said former Judge John P. McGorty. "We then moved that the committee recommend to the entire board the immediate appropriation of $15,000 and go on record as favoring a larger appropriation out of the next budget. This was carried."

Col. Arthur C. Barnshaw of the United States department of internal revenue called upon Judge McKinley relative to the books of the Pottinger-Flynn Coal company, which are impounded on orders of the grand jury. No further word was heard from Fred Lundin, who has been out of the state during the last month, following issuance of a grand jury subpoena for him. The Republican boss wired he is at Rochester, Minn., for medical treatment, but did not state when he would return. He stated he was "not interested in Chicago politics."

POLITICS BLAMED

Charging that scandals in school affairs are the result of politics, Trustee Hart Hanson yesterday told 300 members of the Chicago Woman's Aid society that the next mayor to be elected will have to promise the people not to appoint ward healers and other politicians on the board of education.

"I believe you people are sick and tired of a system by which persons are placed in a position of this nature, which should be the most sacred, involving as it does the welfare of our childhood—not because of their ability as trustees, but because of the votes for Mayor Thompson they can get," he said.

The Annual November Sale of Decorative Linens

Brings Remarkable Values at a Welcome Time

WHEN we say there are unusual values in Decorative Linens this month, we do not mean merely that the prices have been appreciably lowered, but that the quality of the Linens and the beauty of their ornamentation are much finer than their prices would indicate. Whatever you select now at whatever price, you may feel assured that the saving is considerable.

The Sale is also a distinct advantage in that you may have these Linens in time for Thanksgiving and the holiday season. Some of the most useful and interesting types are listed below.

Madeira Embroidered Linens

Luncheon Napkins, with scalloped edges and dainty embroidered corners, are $6.75 a dozen.

Scarves and Table Runners are embroidered in different patterns and come in three sizes: 18x36 inches, $3; 18x45 inches, $4; 18x54 inches, $5.

Luncheon Cloths, round 2nd and 54 inches in diameter, are priced from $8 up. The one shown is embroidered with a basket design, and is $9.

Embroidered Guest Towels, with beautifully finished rose scallop, $1.75. Others in different patterns are priced from $1.50 up.

Other Exquisite Linens

Linen Luncheon Napkins, with Venetian motifs in the corners and fillet lace edges, $16.50 a dozen.

Linen Pillow Cases, with Venetian motifs and fillet lace edges, are $15 a pair. Second Floor, North State

Silk and Wool HOSE

in Smart Weaves Harmonize with the New Shoes

THESE Hose, in which the silk and wool are woven in just the proper proportions, are warm enough for all practical purposes and modish enough to wear with the dressiest shoes.

A Dropstitch Hose in Rib Effect

The dropstitch is so fine that it gives the effect of a rib without its weight. In attractive mixtures of Oxford, brown, gray, green, and coating, some with clocks embroidered in colors. Plain, $3.75. Clocked, $4.75.

Fine Ribbed Hose in New Color Combinations

Fashionably narrow ribs, and in place of the usual heater mixtures, a speckled effect in covert and gold, brown, and turquoise, and navy with gold. Pair, $5. Clocked, $6.

Fine Wool Hose in "Six-by-three" Rib

Made for us by a famous English manufacturer, these exclusive Hose are unexcelled for fineness and softness of texture. Black, brown, clerical, slate, covert, and Oxford blue; $5.50. First Floor, North State

Continuing Our Selling of All-wool Coatings, $7.50

THESE lovely, soft-piled materials, warm without being bulky, lend themselves gracefully to draped, bloused or wrapped style Coats. Each piece has that glowing surface and depth of pile which denote superior quality. There is not every color in the assortment, but the season's representative shades are included. 34 inches wide.

Second Floor, South State

Smart Hats and Turbans

Ready-to-trim, $7.50 and $10

THESE Hats, designed as they are, and combined with metal cloth or fur, need only the slightest addition, such as a pin or arrow of rhinestones, to effect completion.

The turbans of metal cloth, not only brilliant and beautiful, but very smart and in strong vogue, are effective against the dark backgrounds of Winter fabrics and furs. They are exceptionally low priced at $7.50.

Satin Hats are combined with monkey fur. Their shapes are smart, rolling gently off the face, or turned sharply. They are unusual values at $7.50.

At $10, a group of satin Hats with peacock feather facings, in black, are unusually effective—and excellent values.

CITY HALL SLOWS
UP VOTE TALLY,
DEMOCRATS SAY

BY PARKE BROWN.

At the end of the second day of the official canvass of last Tuesday's vote by the election board's territory there was an informal conference yesterday at Democratic headquarters. The subject under discussion was this:

"Why is the city hall delaying the count—dragging it out?"

Attorney Henry Berger, one of the legal representatives of the managing committee had presented his report for the day. He said that the five-counting teams working had gone very slowly and that instead of carrying out expectations and increasing the number of teams to fifteen this morning, the election board said the work would continue indefinitely with only five teams.

Democrats Suspicious.

The Democrats feel that some policy of the board with which they have not been acquainted is responsible for this delay. Their information on Monday was that fifteen teams were to go to work at once. Apparently the members of that number of teams were on hand and ready for work. But only two teams went to work. And the understanding then was that there would be five teams on Tuesday and that on Wednesday—today—the full capacity of fifteen teams would be employed.

"I asked George Lehman, chief clerk of the board, when the fifteen would begin," reported Attorney Berger, "and he told me he couldn't say definitely."

The discussion of this situation tended to become slightly excited, but that tendency was just as strong when the low rate of progress made by the five teams was analyzed.

Fast Work in Country.

According to some of the watchers who have observed the election board's crews and the one team that is canvassing country town returns in County Clerk Switzer's office, the former are going at a snail's pace. They said that the single country towns team since is counting almost as many precincts as the five teams over in the city hall.

There is some difference in the two methods of counting. The country town precincts did not vote on municipal judges and the county board list is shorter. But the election board teams are not counting the vote on legislative or district congressional candidates, so the difference is slight.

But the country towns teams have

NEW AIR ROUTE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—An aerial route between Italy and Egypt will soon be put in operation.

Upon arrival in Italy of one of the four large hangars which Germany is obliged to deliver to the Italian government in accordance with the Versailles treaty, Gino Bastogi, one of the foremost aeronautic officials in Italy, proposes to establish immediately an airship route starting from Milan, with stops at Rome, Tripoli, Benghazi, and ending at Alexandria, Egypt. The distance from Milan to Rome—250 miles—will be made in six hours passing over the Givoli mountains at an altitude of about 2,500 feet. Flight from Rome to Tripoli will take from ten to eleven hours, the distance being 640 miles over an all-maritime route. From Tripoli to Benghazi—410 miles—will be seven hours. From Benghazi to Alexandria, the last lap, is 620 miles and will be covered in ten hours, following the coast.

One of the most important conclusions to be drawn from last week's elections, Mr. Hyman asserted, involved the people's sentiment on the prohibition question. He said the issue should be put to a general referendum.

"The verdict on prohibition," he maintained, "clearly registered the desire of the voters—where they were given opportunity to express themselves even indirectly—for a little more liberty. Since this result is undeniable, there is every reason to urge that all the people should have a chance to vote on the question. I know of no better way to provide this than through a general referendum."

His Political Forecast.

Concerning the 1924 political outlook, Mayor Hyman said:

"If neither of the two old parties offers a progressive candidate, they will find a third party, and a strong one, in the field."

"The tendency is unmistakable. It will develop more strongly in 1924 if the Democrats don't nominate somebody like William Randolph Hearst or the Republicans some one of the stamp of Hiram Johnson."

HYLAN, HERE FOR REST, TALKS OF

Comments on the verdict of voters in the recent elections, with particular reference to prohibition, a prophecy of a probable third national party in 1924, with a good word for William Randolph Hearst and Hiram Johnson as likely presidential timber, an informal appeal to Chicagoans to follow New York's lead in encouraging subway and bus line projects—these and other observations came from Mayor John F. Hyman of New York as, to all appearances, anything but a very tired man, he stepped briefly from the Twentieth Century yesterday "for a good rest in Chicago."

Mayor Hyman, accompanied by Grover A. Whalen, a member of his cabinet, said that an eleventh hour proposal of Mrs. Hyman, who remained at home, had induced him to come to Chicago for a vacation, rather than to the Catskills, as he had first planned.

GOOD UNIONISM.

The action of twenty-two building trades unions in reorganizing the Chicago council on the basis of the Landis award, with the elimination of Fred Mader as its president, is a distinct victory for the general cause of unionism. It is a repudiation of violence and restriction of output which have marked some branches of unionism and have tended to bring unions into disrepute.

If the reorganized Building Trades council of Chicago and the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor, which approves this action, maintain the policy thus indicated, they will give the cause of unionism an impetus, and will win public approval which will be invaluable. They go on record as living up to an agreement, whether its immediate effect appears to their advantage or against it. Such organizations win support and approval. They prove themselves organizations with which business can be transacted safely and profitably for all concerned.

The Landis award has proved itself of value alike to the builders of Chicago and to the unions. Leaving aside the wage scale, around which the public controversy has been most heated, it has been of great benefit through its virtual elimination of jurisdictional strikes, and its virtual elimination of arbitrary rules, which reduced output and imposed needless expense and other burdens upon building. The result has been such an increase in building and in the number of jobs that the demand for men has automatically raised the general pay of mechanics considerably above the scale of the award. Both the mechanics and the city in general have profited.

There is little doubt that if the building boom is not handicapped by artificial restrictions this demand for building labor will continue indefinitely. The incomes of the workers, therefore, should remain high, and it is not unlikely that the Landis wage scale may be raised. That is the outlook unless the so-called "outlaw" unions insist upon confusing the issue.

The carpenters have the strongest of these unions. They never agreed to acceptance of the Landis arbitration decision, so they cannot be accused of repudiation of an agreement. But they never accepted it, and are still opposed to it. The plumbers, lathers, sheet metal workers, painters, hoisting engineers, roofers, fixture hangers, and laborers also oppose the award. If they accept wages based upon supply and demand, without coercive influences, as has been generally the case throughout the summer, we may expect continuation of building activity, eventually lower rents, and the advantage of the city in general. But if they seek to coerce employers and the twenty-two Landis award unions by violence, intimidation, and restriction of output, they will cut off their noses to spite their faces.

In such circumstances public sympathy and support should be clearly defined. It should be with the reorganized building trades council, and against the "outlaw" unions only if they resort to improper methods.

TO PASSIONATE PACIFISTS.

Nothing says by a public man at this time deserves more prayerful consideration than this remark of Gen. Pershing: "Strangely enough, those who appeal most loudly for headlong intervention are those who most vociferously condemn any and all preparation for sudden emergency."

This is an ironic paradox which is likely to get little attention from the well meaning clergymen, ladies' organizations, pacifist leagues, teachers' conventions, and others who throw their influence against all measures to make the defenses of the country secure. Yet it is precisely from their ranks that we have the demand that America shall come instantly to the rescue of any dramatically oppressed people in any part of the globe. It is they who are for the league of nations. It is they who demand that we should spring to the succor of the Armenian and the Greek. With the exception of an extremist minority, it was they who demanded that we join the allies to resist German militarism and save civilization in Europe. It is they who are most passionately urgent that America shall see to it that what they think the righteous cause shall prevail wherever in the world it is imperiled.

May we ask that our idealists and ardent humanitarians make a little effort to reach an intelligible agreement with themselves? Perhaps they think that we can exercise a benevolent influence upon say, the Turk, by sending him a tract or a resolution. But if their militant righteousness carries them only that far, let us have that acknowledged, and say in on chain letters to the President demanding intervention.

If, on the other hand, they are real crusaders, let them stop trying to deprive the United States of every practical means of making its influence felt against an armed and bellicose adversary. Pious petitions could not save Smyrna, nor have they saved a single Armenian.

We ourselves have no wish that the American government should assume the mentorship of the world. We want an army and navy adequate for our defense and for the support of our just interests abroad. We are opposed to emotional interventions across the world, but those who demand them ought at least to show the courage of their crusade.

ing convictions. Intervention, if it is not to be a mischievous farce, injurious and not helpful to its intended beneficiaries, calls for sacrifice. Perhaps our humanitarians merely wish to enjoy an inexpensive glow of self-righteousness.

THE JAPANESE IN AMERICA.

The decision of the Supreme court that Japanese are ineligible to citizenship under the statute which restricts the privilege of naturalization to "free white persons" defines and applies the law as it exists, and disposes of the quibble by which Japanese exclusion could be evaded on the ground that the Japanese are white. The opinion points out that the term white, as employed in the law, means what we commonly call Caucasian, and though a Japanese may be lighter in color than a white American and may be descended from the Ainu, he is not a Caucasian and therefore is not eligible.

It is the function of the Supreme court to interpret the laws and not to justify them, so this decision has no bearing on the policy of exclusion. But we hope the Japanese will accept that policy as fixed. As Justice Sutherland wisely pointed out, there is no implication of inferiority in either the decision or the law. Our policy of exclusion is not based on any assumption as to relative levels of culture or of race quality and character. It is based, and based solely, upon difference—difference of race, culture, and economic standard. This difference is so great as to make fusion and inclusion impracticable. Intermarriage, it is American custom, is not good for either race or for the individuals of either race, though in exceptional cases intermarriage may be successful. This does not imply that the Japanese are inferior to the Americans in race or culture, and there is no occasion for offense to Japanese pride.

Another basis of exclusion is economic. The difference in standard of living gives the Japanese an advantage over the American, from which the latter has a right to defend himself.

In short, the Japanese introduce an insoluble element into American life and the American people do not propose to accept the consequences which inevitably flow from such a situation. We would not expect Japan to welcome a large inflow of Americans, and, as a matter of fact, their laws are more exclusive than ours. The case for exclusion by the United States is perfectly reasonable and we have no doubt the Japanese government understands. But exclusion is a card to play with in the diplomatic game.

So far as the Japanese who are lawfully under our flag are concerned, they should be jealously protected and their acquired rights enforced. But exclusion should be made more effective and means should be agreed upon to reduce their numbers gradually, even at an economic loss to the districts affected. In America they are a constant source of friction, endangering not only our domestic tranquility but our peaceful relations with Japan. If Japan is really desirous of maintaining friendship with us, its government will engage in working out a policy under which, within a reasonable lapse of time, no considerable body of Japanese will remain planted upon our soil. We have one almost hopeless race problem. We cannot afford another. Exclusion is the interest of the Japanese in the long run, as well as ours.

We have recently given an earnest of our friendly intentions toward Japan by entering into a naval treaty which makes it impossible for us to attack her. We are willing to cultivate mutually profitable relations with her. But Japanese immigration is not a concession we shall ever make, and the Japanese in America are a problem which, if it is wise, will be as anxious to remove as Washington.

FARMER LUNDIN.

Fred Lundin, at Rochester, Minn., and out of the jurisdiction of Illinois, tells a correspondent that he does not know anything of Chicago politics and is not interested in it. Mr. Lundin has made this statement a great many times in the last fifteen or twenty years and each time he makes it our wish is the greater that it be so.

If it were, he might still be selling juniper juice from a push cart, but there would be many compensations for the city and state. We might not have had so much experience with Small and Thompson, with experts, fat tax eaters, and unexplained incomes.

Mr. Lundin has kept out of Cook county ever since the grand jury made known its desire to question him regarding school board matters. He is now out of the jurisdiction of the state, but he is still within the jurisdiction of the federal income tax officials if they should care to question him.

Editorial of the Day

ENOUGH SAID.

(Free translation from Dziennik Zjednoczenia (U. S. Polish Alliance Daily).)

The American press recently increased wages one-fifth, for the simple reason that suddenly a lack of workers made itself felt. This is worthy of note, because only a short time ago a good deal was said about lack of jobs, and there were prolonged discussions about how the crisis could be given a favorable turn. The change has indeed come quite suddenly.

The workers are indebted for this improvement much less to their own efforts than to the improvement of the labor market. This is what brought victory to the coal miners and also to the workers in the spineries. Only the railroad men were not so lucky in the attempt made by them not only to keep up war wages but even to increase them. American laborers are profiting from the restrictions placed on further immigration from Europe; however, every consumer—in fact, society in general—will have to make good these higher wages by submitting to increased prices of articles of common necessity.

The scarcity of workers extends solely to unskilled labor—the kind of men who were coming especially from southern and eastern Europe—Italy, Poland, Slovakia, Lithuania, etc. A report of the national industrial conference board shows that there is merely one-tenth of such men now coming from Europe. Before the war there were at least eight hundred thousand, while now there are barely seventy-five thousand, one-half of which are women and children.

In a bulletin of the National City Bank of New York George E. Roberts analyzes some immigration statistics, and arrives at the conclusion that in the first year of limited immigration there were admitted to America only 23,724 immigrants, whereas in the average 100,000 immigrants of this category. America is thus losing 76,274 workmen annually. Frederick C. Howe, another American observer, predicts that as the present generation of workers in the steel factories and mines, as well as on the farms and railroads and in domestic service will gradually become old, America will fall short at least 3,000,000 workmen, perhaps a good many more.

This does not sound encouraging for the progress of America, and is food for thought on the part of congress in Washington.

A LADY LIVED IN LESBOS.

A lady lived in Lesbos a weary time ago. So many years have elapsed it's little we can know; So many years have worn away, with gods and creeds and kings, It's little we remember now of older, happier things.

For men go up and down the land, under and over the seas (A lady lived in Lesbos, but what is that to these?). And men sit watching, night by night, how Mars the planet spins, And women sit and gossip over marriages and sins.

We have forgotten beauty and all our gods are gone, And little we remember now the dryads and the wood. And only old philosophers and foolish dreamers know What lady lived in Lesbos a weary time ago.

THE KING OF THE BLACK ISLES.

HEROES ALL. It was a beautiful tribute, that poem in the Line last Saturday by P. D. Gog, to the ladies who died in training camps in the United States during the great war. They were ready, those boys, ready, willing, anxious, to go over there, but Fate woulded otherwise. All honor to the ladies who died in the gloom of the warzone or wherever their country sent them, a speedy recovery to those still languishing in hospitals, the best of luck to the best hearted men who came through, and honor and tears for the Leon Starks who are their hearts out with longing while they test in the line the training barracks on this side. And may I dedicate this to one of them, my brother Jimmy? J. RYAN.

A FAMILY AFFAIR.

My Very Dear Ursula: I have read your contribution, harshly criticizing me for saying "to the manly men" instead of "to the manly boys." Poor old Ursula! You to the manner born you would not thus criticize a lady nor would you compel the late lamented and highly respected Mr. Shakespeare to go to all the trouble of turning over in his grave. Sorry dear, it hurts mamma more than it does her naughty little boy.

FACTS ABOUT CANCER.

(By Dr. M. G. Seelig, St. Louis.)

THE primary cause of cancer is unknown. No one has ever proved that it is due to a germ or organism of any kind. Like Topsy, a cancer "just grows."

It is made up of cells just as is the rest of the body. The cells of the body, however, have definite growth energy—that is, they grow up to a definite limit, and then growth ceases. A normal six foot man grows until he reaches six feet, and then growth ceases. The cells of his liver, his spleen, his bones and all his other organs grow and multiply until his liver and spleen and skeleton are of proper size, and then growth ceases in accordance with some unknown law of life. Normal growth is an orderly process.

The growth of cancer cells is the most disorderly process conceivable. Of a sudden, and for no known reason, a certain cell makes up its cellular mind to have no regard for the laws governing the growth of the rest of its brother and sister cells. It proclaims itself an anarchist, and in a debauch of growth it knows no limit of size and no respect for the claims or the needs of the rest of the body. Just as the cells of the stomach and intestines, which lead to cancer, and the harm to the social body, unless apprehended early and properly dealt with, exactly so will the anarchistic cell do equal harm to the physical body, unless it and its progeny are apprehended and properly dealt with.

The human body is made up, for the most part, of epithelial cells and connective tissue. The face or ears, all these make up the skin, the mucous membrane and most of the various organs of the body, such as the lungs, liver, pancreas, spleen, etc. The connective tissue cells constitute the supporting structure of the body and the cement substance holding the epithelial cells together.

Comparing the human body to a house, we should say that the bricks represent the epithelial cells, whereas the mortar and the supporting joists and beams represent the connective tissue cells. The mortar and the joists take on wild and unstrained growth happens to be of the epithelial variety, then the resulting cancer is known as a carcinoma. If the epithelial cells grow rapidly with connective tissue type, then the resulting cancer is known as a sarcoma. The groups of carcinoma and sarcoma embrace practically all cancers.

Both carcinoma and sarcoma are called "tumors" because, when they attain sufficient size, they can be seen as swellings. Tumors merely means a swelling. Not every tumor is a cancer, but every cancer is a tumor. Not every tumor is malignant, but every cancer is malignant and we call it malignant because it grows rapidly with connective tissue limit; it spreads into neighboring territory; it involves the blood and lymph streams, and is thereby carried.

OBERAMERGAU ASKS HELP.

Town Hall, Oberammergau, Germany, Oct. 10.—Oberammergau has had the pleasure of receiving many American visitors this summer who came to see the Passion Play, a great number of whom must be Tribune readers. So much kind interest was taken by them in our play and in our community that I am taking the liberty of inclosing a short statement of the position in which the parish of Oberammergau finds itself after the play is over.

I should be grateful indeed to you if you could see your way to giving the report, or its substance, the widest possible publicity. You will observe that three facts stand out in it: 1. In the face of a rapidly declining currency and as rapidly rising costs, and contrary to the prevalent custom of raising prices, our community has been unable to maintain its first rates. Such action has dwindled our family reserves and destroyed our expectation of a balance for education and civic betterment.

2. In refusing to sell our play to an American film company for $100,000, a sacrifice demanded by loyalty to the vow made by our fathers, our citizens have denied themselves the first rates, and the corporation has foregone more than can be hoped for in many years.

3. Twenty-seven thousand five hundred dollars, if contributed by our friends by the present time, would guarantee our community program, providing work for the coming winter, safeguarding health and the education of our youth, and in this new schoolhouse equipping the next generation for its presentation of our holy play.

Any contributions will be gratefully received by me at the above address. I remain, dear sir, yours faithfully, WILHELM RUTZ, Burgomaster.

"BLIND OR UNFAIR." Winona Lake, Ind., Nov. 8.—Your editorial Wednesday crowing over alleged beer victories showed bad judgment as well as bad taste. Better have waited another day and read in your news columns. Ohio defeats not amendment by 161,696. Fess of Ohio and Howell of Nebraska and one other dry replace wet senators, and a large dry majority in new house at Washington, your news columns indicate. The straw vote of the beerites in Illinois was more or less of a joke, and what per cent of the total voting strength did the wet vote poll? They are either too blind or too unfair to give the other side its dues.

WE GET WHAT WE VOTE FOR.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—In appointing the Negro proprietor of a small restaurant as representative of the employers on the Illinois industrial commission, Gov. Small displayed judgment comparable only to that of the people of Illinois when they elected Mr. Small to the governor's chair.

On what grounds the governor based this most peculiar selection it is difficult to conjecture, but certain it is that the appointment does not reflect the sentiment of business executives or of the intelligent class of voters. To me it is at once apparent that the governor's action is but an effort of the Thompson-Lundin machine to strengthen itself more securely in the black and tan district and secure a firmer hold on the solid Second ward.

The Thompson-Lundin machine, regardless of principle and regardless of the trend of political thought in other sections of the city, can be relied upon to back the call despisers of good government.

The Thompson-Lundin machine combine, in my opinion, forces darkness in the next election and they proceed at once to strengthen the hitherto impregnable Second ward Hallgadd by placing in the

OPERATORS MEET MINERS TO PLAN PARLEY ON WAGE

With each group professing determination to preserve peace in the industry, seventy representatives of coal operators and miners of the bituminous field met at the Great Northern hotel in a joint conference which will be resumed today.

Their function is to prescribe a method of negotiating a new wage scale agreement at another meeting to be held Jan. 3, 1923. The committee which convened here yesterday, it was said, will not concern itself with provisions of the prospective wage agreement. But upon its success in devising machinery for use in the actual parley of January may depend whether the country is to face another coal mine strike when the agreement that ended the walkout in August expires March 31.

Lewis and Farrington Here.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and Frank Farrington, head of the Illinois miners, are among the union chiefs in attendance. Phil H. Penna, Indiana operator, is chairman of the joint committee. He also was chairman of the Cleveland conference which finally broke the deadlock between operators and mine union officials.

The joint session yesterday was a brief one, following which the operators held a separate meeting. President Lewis addressed the former. He said the union representatives had formulated no plan of procedure.

"But," he added, "we have come to this conference with open minds and an earnest desire to reach an understanding that will make further negotiations easy."

The operators were reluctant to discuss what proposals had been advanced in their separate meeting, but it was learned two plans had been submitted. One by H. N. Taylor of Kansas City, Mo., and the other by W. L. Jenkins of Fairmont, W. Va.

Deadlock Is Feared.

While chary of specific comment last night, both factions admitted the expressed desire of operators for some plan of arbitration of all disputes may cause a deadlock in the present meeting. The question as to what the scope of any contract shall be also must be disposed of. In other words, this committee must determine whether the new wage agreement shall be made for the central competitive field—Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and western Pennsylvania—for some other group or grouping of states; on a semi-national or national basis, or whether separate agreements shall be made for individual states and districts.

SEEK KIN OF DR. A. WALKER.

Chicago police are searching for relatives of Dr. Aaron Walker of Cranston, R. I., who died recently, following the receipt of a telegram yesterday morning asking that they be located. The message gave no other information.

NEXT SUNDAY'S Coloroto Magazine is probably the greatest magazine ever published by any newspaper. Four famous authors, whose stories appear in the big American and British magazines, contribute stories written especially for the Coloroto Magazine of The Sunday Tribune.

The second installment of Will Payne's serial, The Room on the Roof, takes the reader directly into the stirring action of the story.
 Henry C. Rowland, Berta Ruck and Owen
 Oliver have written delightful short stories for this issue.

Reproduced in full-page size, ready for framing, are portraits of Benito Mussolini, the world war hero who has become premier of Italy; Mabel Normand, popular movie actress, and a beautiful reproduction in four colors of the cathedral of Amiens. There are numerous interesting photographs.

Corinne Lowe has two pages showing the flapper's holiday clothes; W. E. Hill's in-repressible comics represent "The Village Movies"; "The Women Folks" are the cut-out dolls that Penny Ross has drawn for the children; and the third selection of "The Twelve Most Beautiful Women in America" is shown in six remarkable photographs.

Maude Martin Ellis has painted the Wisconsin Girl and the Michigan Girl for her cover design, reproduced in four colors.

 disputed the merits of this great journal for seventy-five years. In its home town The Tribune is loved, hated, admired, feared, quoted, denounced, revered, hissed, defended, attacked—but never ignored.

Peculiar interest, therefore, attaches to the new book entitled "The W G N," which contains not only a history of the paper but 200 pages of minute description of how every Tribune department operates. All phases of reportorial, editorial and advertising work are considered in detail, and also all mechanical processes from cutting of spruce logs to the distribution of Tribunes to subscribers. There are more than one hundred illustrations.

13 ANTI-LANDIS AWARD TRADES FORM COUNCIL

Demand $9 a Day of Contractors.

As a result of the reorganization of the Chicago Building Trades council last Monday afternoon with nineteen Landis award building trades, the thirteen anti-Landis award trades have decided to organize their own central body, Harry Jensen, president of the Carpenters' District council, announced last night.

The new central body will be called the Associated Building Trades Council of Chicago. Affiliated with it, according to Jensen, will be the following anti-Landis award trades:

Carpenters, plumbers, sheet metal workers, laborers, fixture hangers, painters, glaziers, composition roofers, slate and tile roofers hoisting engineers, terrazzo mechanics, cement finishers, and lathers.

Want $9 a Day.

"If the contractors see fit to make new agreements with the affiliated trades of the newly formed council before New Year's day $9 a day, or $1.12 1/2 an hour, will be the uniform wage scale demanded," said Jensen.

"If they make us wait until after the first of the year the trades will demand the old scale of $1.25 an hour. Referring to the recent reorganization of the Building Trades council, Jensen said, the twenty-two trades which accepted the Landis award comprise not quite one-fourth of the membership of the building craftsmen in Chicago.

"Our new Central Trades council will represent approximately 40,000 building trades mechanics and laborers, while the trades council of which Ryan is president represents only 7,000. "We will abide by the rules of the American Federation of Labor—that is, we will refuse to work with non-union men."

Ryan Works for Peace.

Meantime Edward Ryan, elected president of the Building Trades council Monday, was trying to effect harmony between the two divisions of trades in the building industry.

"Full support and cooperation was pledged to me when I agreed to become president of the council," said Ryan. "A committee of seven Landis award union officials will be appointed at the council meeting next Friday night to act in an advisory capacity to formulate plans to reestablish the Chicago building trades on permanent foundation."

Ilador, Russian Monk,

Is on His Way to America

RIGA, Latvia, Nov. 14.—Ilador, the Russian Monk of Russia, has received an American visa to his passport and will sail for New York on board the steamer Lithuania tomorrow. Ilador was arrested here by the Latvian authorities in July while on his way to the United States to preach against bolshevism. He said he desired to buy a farm and settle in the United States, where he could carry on his literary work.

LAWYERS CLASH AT MADER TRIAL; STATE REBUKED

Heated arguments between counsel and two successful hits by the defense in cross-examination featured the trial of Fred Mader, Daniel McCarthy, and John Miller, which was recommenced yesterday after several days' interruption due to a death in a juror's family. The three labor leaders are on trial before Judge Oscar Hebel charged with the murder of Police Lieutenant Terence Lyons.

Attorney Frank Comerford for the defense objected to the testimony of J. I. Elliott and J. W. Collins, plumbing contractors, and William Schlake, general managers of the Associated Builders. Mr. Comerford declared the testimony of these three, which had to do with threats by labor men, had been ruled inadmissible by the court and that the state was "attempting to poison the jury."

The defense scored during the cross-examination of Schlake and of Harry C. Paygman, 2615 Sheffield avenue, employed as an investigator by the police department.

Schlake, who had told of Henry (Smash) Hanson coming to him with a strike settlement proposition, declared Hanson had made no offer of money or indicated that his purpose was to extort money to win a settlement. The state had said in its opening statement that it would show that between $75,000 and $100,000 was involved.

The defense's second success came when Paygman denied he had ever seen Miller in the offices of the Building Trades' council. Hanson, the state's star witness, had sworn that Miller had been in the offices on the first of May.

Paygman said he had been engaged to follow "Big Tim" Murphy and in doing so had seen Miller enter Murphy's office on May 9, the night of the murder. He also said he had sold Murphy a pistol.

PLUMBERS' UNION OFFICIAL ROBBED OF $3,000 DUES

Three robbers in an automobile last night held up and robbed Barney Cruise, 4118 West Congress street, secretary of the Plumbers' union, of $3,000 said to have been collected as dues from union members.

Cruise was on his way home from a union meeting in the Union Park temple when, at Ogden avenue and Madison street, the car drove up beside him. Two men leaped from the machine, the third remaining at the wheel, and, thrusting guns into Cruise's back, forced him to hand over the money.

DEATH PICTURED AS MERE ROUTINE IN POISON HOME

of triumph that modern Borgias display. No sable wrap envelopes slim, white shoulders. A dark red sweater stretches over a form that echoes a comely young figure now gone. No smart frock, but a calico work dress, neat, serviceable, efficient.

In place of a mass of blonde curls

Mrs. Klimek's brown hair is twisted in the common sense knot of a housewife who has no time for foolishness. And the deep dimple curves now in scorn where once it beguiled with coquetry. The woman whose appeal has enraptured many men displays an almost sexless impersonality as she surveys the younger women in the jail and criticizes their indiscretions.

Her Views on Flapper.

With spirit she discusses the modern young woman and recalls her own strict youth.

"Me, I came to this country when I was a year old, from Germany, with my folks. No foolishness with us. We work," and she tosses a defiant head toward a pretty young girl across the jail supper table in the woman's quarters.

She betrays no emotion except when she wants to. But she is not stolid. She weighs her words as carefully as she may have weighed the "rat poisoning" with which she is reputed to have favored the food for her victims. She has brains and they are the yardsticks for her emotions.

MRS. KOULIK ALL NERVES

Where Mrs. Klimek is master of all her emotions, her cousin, Mrs. Nellie Stermer Koulik, held in connection with the case, is all emotion and nerves and childish interest.

"Write to my children, write to my people," she begs, "and tell them not to believe all they hear. Here is the paper, please," and she digs out a soiled piece of paper. "And ask them to come to see me, Friday, please." Her intonation, her gesture, is humble, the attitude of a peasant, where Mrs. Klimek is the patrician, daring herself to ask a favor, or to be feminine.

"And I want a pair of stockings," continues Mrs. Koulik, "and wouldn't you like some, what you call them, fried cakes, Tills?" But Tills is impatient of the question, almost embarrassed at her friend's attitude.

Contrast in Suspects. At supper, Mrs. Koulik ate her food with a relish, while Mrs. Klimek was disdainful of everything.

"We like this much better than the west side police station. It's fine here," but Mrs. Koulik's praise of the jail was cut short by a snarl from her cousin.

Where Mrs. Koulik smiled, humanely, across at the tiny baby, a mother held in her arms, Mrs. Klimek, the efficient woman, commented on the improper way the child was held.

Her attitude in the jail explains her previous conduct, of almost inexpressible emotional poise in the hospital room with her husband. She heard him denounce her, heard him plan to divorce her, heard him "Thank God that he found her out." And when he had finished, she went over to the bed, and, without a trace of anger, without a tear, a shiver, without a plea for mercy or a denial of guilt, she remarked coolly, as she kissed him, "Jo, I don't think they're treating you right here. You'd better come home with me."

The 46 year old woman, who looks younger, whose pert blue eyes belie her apparent lack of emotion, whose sneering lips contradict any remorse that her silence might indicate, is not lacking in emotion. She is an automaton of emotions and she guides and releases them with mechanical precision.

Tills Klimek is a spectator at her own drama.

they love it!

"Mr. Griffith's jazz baby . . . and some baby. . . . Spooky, sizzling plot. . . . A good time was had by all. . . . It is agog with mystery; prickly with thrills; brooded over by romance, and has a running lilt of comedy throughout. . . . Before the picture is over you are making bets on the guilty party. . . . Miss Dempster is the loveliest of the Griffith players. . . . There is a bear of a tempest. . . . A jazzy prologue with some regular 'Follies' dancing and music."

Mae Tinee, Tribune.

"When the audience wasn't laughing itself into fits, it was tempted to shut its eyes and scream for help. . . . 'One Exciting Night' produces as many cases of near heart failure and near hysterics as any stage play ever did. . . . Sure fire entertainment. . . . You'll love it."

Genevieve Harris, Post.

"It is 'The Bat,' 'The Cat and the Canary' and 'Bulldog Drummond' all rolled into one, and more beside. A delicate love story that is typically Griffith-like. . . . Will entertain, amuse, delight, and all but exhaust you with thrills."

American.

"Griffith has done it again as completely as he did it in 'Birth of a Nation' and 'Broken Blossoms.' . . . Rare entertainment. The wonder is that the cameraman didn't die of nervous prostration while taking the scenes. Through it runs a golden thread of loveliness that Griffith alone knows how to draw. . . . As everything he does is superlative, so was the storm. It makes a first class cyclone look puny, curl up in its swirl, and run away in shame."

Virginia Dale, Journal.

"The entire audience almost went into hysterics with laughter and then gasped. . . . We always expect unusual things from Griffith, and he never has disappointed. . . . He has given another masterpiece of a new variety. . . . Blood curdling mystery drama, and a hilarious farce, and an appealing love story—all in one. . . . Funny as it is terrifying. . . . You will laugh until the tears run down your face. . . . You haven't had so much fun and such a good laugh for a long time, as when you see 'One Exciting Night.'"

Warm Flannel Shirts in Smart Patterns, $5

Well adapted to late Fall and Winter wear, they are shown here in neckband and collar attached styles. Viyella and Clydella nonshrinkable wool mixtures and smart silk striped flannel are the fabrics. The majority have blue, tan and gray grounds. This price is considerably lower than you will find on similar qualities elsewhere.

All Wool Mufflers in Warm Color Blends, $3

Here's a large showing of light and fluffy all wool Mufflers. Rich blends of quiet color are borne out in large two-tone squares, distinctive cross stripes and the favored vertical stripes. Inexpensively priced at $3, with other rich, attractive Mufflers from $1.50 to $5.

Silk and Wool Union Suits, $8.50

In a weave combining the finest pure worsted yarns with the softest of silk, comfort is assured, because the "feel" of silk predominates. Made with long sleeves and in ankle length, they come in white and silver. There's an added advantage, too—that of warmth without weight.

Low Shoes Require Wool Hose, $1.15

We have an exceptionally large and attractive assortment of Wool Hose to wear with low shoes. Three weights and several different ribbings in the more preferable tans, grays and heather mixtures afford a choice that will suit every taste.

How is your Imagination this Morning?

YOUR appetite may be right, your eyes keen and your muscles fit, but—

Can you project yourself into new situations? Can you visualize the consequences of your own plans, your own acts and desires? Can you put yourself in the other person's place and see his or her point of view?

Imagination is the fundamental requisite in all human relations, whether of home or office or workshop.

Imagination builds successful careers.

Imagination builds successful marriages.

Nothing stimulates and develops imagination so thoroughly as the reading of good fiction.

Good fiction takes you inside the minds and feelings of people of every class and kind.

It shows the workings of love and hate, of jealousy and steadfastness and revenge, in people like yourself and in people as unlike you as possible.

It is an education in self-analysis and in the analysis of others.

WOMEN'S VOTES TO DECIDE FATE OF ENGLISH RULE

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright, 1922, By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Nov. 14.—[By Tribune Wireless.]—The election campaign ended today, in London at least, literally as well as metaphorically, in a fog. The weather prophets predict that the fog will continue tomorrow, which is interpreted by political weather prophets as being bad for the Conservatives, as many women will not venture to the polls, and the Conservatives are reckoning on the women's votes to win. Great Britain today is awaiting the verdict of the sphinx. The election depends on the women's votes, and no one knows how it is going. Canvassers report that most women recent being asked how they will vote, and they regard the secret of the ballot seriously. As a result the usual forecasts on the eve of the election are missing or are given with a reservation that an unknown factor may upset the most careful estimate.

Lloyd George Busy.

Mr. Lloyd George spent the last day of his campaign in a whirl around Lancashire, speaking both in halls and the open air, while Prime Minister Bonar Law made a speech in Glasgow, returning to London tonight.

The results of the election will not be known until Thursday night. The polls generally are open from 8 to 9, but in some constituencies they open at 7 and close at 9. The results will be declared in about 200 constituencies tomorrow night, but even in some London boroughs it has been arranged that there will not be a count until Thursday, so unless there is a landslide, which is not expected, the fate of the Bonar Law government will not be known until Thursday.

Canvassers Aliens, Too.

Every effort is being made to poll all possible votes. Canvassers are even going to the length of urging aliens to vote for their candidates. I have been asked by a Conservative canvasser to vote for his candidate because my name is on the register as a taxpayer, and when I told him that I was an American he urged that there was no need to know the difference. He was quite hurt on my definite refusal.

The carelessness with which English parliamentary registers are compiled makes such frauds easy. Every taxpayer is put on automatically unless he is objected to, and an objection is seldom made unless the man's political preference is known, when he may be challenged by the other side.

Hotels Has $200 Fine.

Late sleepers at the Alexandria hotel, 542 Rush street, were aroused yesterday morning when the building became filled with smoke from a fire originating in the kitchen. Damage estimated at $200.

PROGRESSIVES OUTLINE PLANS FOR 1924 RACE

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Progressive Republican leaders, it was learned here today, are planning a conference to frame a legislative program and declaration of principles to lay before the country.

The conference would include progressive leaders now in congress, those who have been elected to the Sixty-eighth congress, governors-elect who are in sympathy with advanced ideas and progressive leaders who are not in office.

The program to be discussed, it is declared, will be used as a platform in a fight the progressive wing will wage to control the party in 1924 and to bring about the nomination of a Republican presidential candidate who will be responsive to the principles and policies to be laid down.

To Crystallize 1924 Sentiment.

Leaders of the progressive group here say that it will be their purpose to make the conference a representative one and to frame a platform, not so much in the expectation of enacting it into law during the next congress, but with the idea of presenting to the country a definite program of measures and principles upon which progressive sentiment throughout the country might crystallize for the struggle in 1924.

Some of the issues upon which the progressives are expected to unite and make the outstanding features of their program are:

Repeal of drastic provisions of the Cummins-Esch transportation act. Revision of the tax laws, levying higher rates upon big incomes, both corporate and individual. Radical curtailment of governmental expenditures.

Recognition of the soviet Russian government. Curbing of the powers of the federal reserve board. Revision of the recently enacted tariff.

Amnesty for political prisoners.

Living Wage for Labor.

Living wage guarantee for labor under the jurisdiction of the government. Legislation to curb the use of the injunction in labor disputes.

A more liberal policy in the extension of credit to farmers. Prospects are that the progressives will put forth every effort to force an extra session of congress immediately after the expiration of the term of the present congress on March 4.

The purpose of the progressives is open insurgency and frank revolt against the leadership of President Harding. They are making no secret of their hope to prevent the renomination of President Harding and to force the selection of a progressive in 1924 as well as to dictate the writing of the Republican platform.

WILSON, M'ADOO CONGRATULATE CHAIRMAN HULL

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Former President Woodrow Wilson and W. G. McAdoo, believed by many to be again in the running for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1924, are among the party leaders who have sent congratulatory messages to National Chairman Cordell Hull on the results of the last election.

Former President Wilson sent the following message: "I feel that I speak only the sentiment of the whole party when I convey to you my heartfelt congratulations on the results of Tuesday. I am sure that the fine work you and the committee did by way of preparation will be universally recognized."

Mr. McAdoo said: "Warmest congratulations on your personal victory and on the great victory the party has gained in the nation. It was a wonderful and heartening result."

Railway Strike Cost

Uncle Sam $1,250,000

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—Activities of the government in the railway shopmen's strike of last summer cost $1,250,000, according to an estimate reached today by actuaries of the department of justice. The major portion was represented by the salaries and expenses of special deputy marshals.

LODGE OPPOSED TO ABOLISHING SENIORITY RULE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Neither Senator Lodge nor progressive leaders in the senate appear to be favorably responsive at this time to the suggestion of Senator Medill McCormick (Ill.) for abolition of the seniority rule in the senate as applied to the committee service of members.

Progressive leaders who have been in the senate for a long time and who are about to be advanced through the operation of the seniority rule are reported not to be enthusiastic over a change in the rules at this time.

From Senator Lodge, who is still in Massachusetts, word came to the capital today that he is not in favor of any change of the seniority rule and feels that Senator McCormick's plan would only substitute a worse evil for the present one.

Senator Lodge, it was said, refuses to be disturbed or alarmed over the present "newspaper attempt to reorganise the senate," adding that inasmuch as the new congress will not meet until a year from next December, unless called together in extraordinary session by the President, there is ample time for Republicans to talk things over and arrange their political affairs in Washington.

Six Rules for making BETTER COFFEE

Keep your Coffee fresh

It loses strength and aroma when exposed to the air. Keep it in a tight container.

Measure carefully

Use plenty of Coffee—at least a tablespoon to the cup. Guessing usually means a poor cup of Coffee.

Use grounds only once

Don't waste fresh Coffee by adding it to old grounds. Used Coffee grounds are of no more value in making Coffee than ashes in building a fire.

Don't boil your Coffee

Boil your water. Be sure it's boiling. Then pour over the Coffee. But don't let the water and the ground bean boil together after they are mixed.

Serve at once

Many a pot of perfect Coffee has been ruined by letting it cool. If you must delay serving, keep the Coffee piping hot, but never let it boil. Re-cooking injures the flavor.

Scout the Coffee pot

It is not enough to give the pot a hurried rinse and set it away to dry. Scout it carefully every time it is used. Filter bags should be rinsed in clean, cool—never hot—water and kept sweet by submerging in cold water when not in use. Renew filter bags frequently.

HARDING PLANS ESCH - CUMMINS ACT AMENDMENT

Seeks to Get Ahead of
G. O. P. Progressives.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—A program of new railroad legislation amending the Cummins-Esch transportation act will be recommended to congress by President Harding at the regular session beginning in December.

President Harding, it became known today, summoned Senator Cummins [I.], chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, to Washington, to assist in the preparation of the new railroad program. Mr. Cummins arrived in Washington today and, after calling at the White House, arranged to confer at length with the president within the next day or two. To get the "jump" on progressives.

In some quarters, this move was interpreted as an effort on the part of the administration to get the "jump" on the progressives who are planning to move the repeal of the Cummins-Esch law in the next congress.

Some of the outstanding changes in the Cummins-Esch law which Senator Cummins will urge are:

Broader powers for the railroad labor board, including an anti-strike provision.

Reorganization of the labor board, making it an adjunct of the interstate commerce commission and abolishing the three group plan so that only the public would be represented.

Enactment of a section recognizing the principle of the living wage.

Plan to fix penalties.

Fixing of penalties for both labor and the railroads for failing to abide by the decisions of the labor board.

Amendment of the law to make consolidations, now purely voluntary, compulsory.

Pooling of rolling stock under the control of a central corporation.

"Increased transportation facilities are imperative," Secretary of Commerce Hoover declares in his forthcoming annual report, extracts from which became public today.

"There must be constructive development of railroad legislation, in such a way as to preserve the initiative and responsibility of railway executives and at the same time secure public protection and assure adequate service, but rationalization would be a social and economic disaster."

Cummins Favors "Living Wage."

Senator Cummins said he would favor the incorporation in the law of a clause guaranteeing a "living wage" to railroad employees. A few days ago the railroad labor board in Chicago handed down a decision in which it held that legalizing the so-called living wage theory might mean the bankruptcy of many important rail systems.

It is the view of Senator Cummins, however, that the living wage theory can be put into the law without in any way affecting the earning power of the roads.

William R. Hearst Buys the Herald of Washington

Washington, D. C., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—An announcement was made today that William Randolph Hearst had purchased the Washington Herald, a morning newspaper, and will assume control on Nov. 19. The purchase will give the Hearst interests two daily papers in the national capital. The Times is an evening paper.

MINERS TO TRY MINERS, HERRIN JURY OFFERING

Marion, Ill., Nov. 14.—(Special.)—The case against the five alleged ring leaders in the murder of nineteen non-union men at the Southern Illinois Coal company mine, June 22, is being won or lost during these days of jury selection in the Williamson County court. Judging from the present trend of proceedings the case is going against the state.

Preponderance of union miners on the venire drawn to form the material for the trial jury, and the rapid rate at which the state is using its peremptory challenges make it almost certain that sooner or later the state will be forced to accept union miners to sit in judgment upon union miners.

In these quarters the massacre at Herrin is regarded largely as a "little mistake" growing out of over exuberant unionism. It is not likely that the state's array of 183 witnesses will make much impression upon that state of mind.

There was the spectacle today of a miner after miner qualifying as a juror because he swore that it would not embarrass him in the least to send his buddies to death if the evidence warranted. There was no way to get around that testimony except a peremptory challenge. The state has used fourteen of these challenges so far and the defense two. No jurors were obtained today.

Cut your cleaning costs by using Old Dutch

When Old Dutch meets a dirty floor

watch how the dirt flies! See how much a little Old Dutch really does—on any kind of a floor! You'll be surprised.

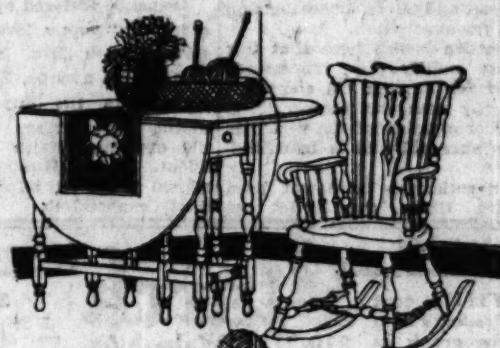

The reason lies in the peculiar flaky character of Old Dutch particles. They lie flat and pack so closely together that you get many, many times more particles, bulk for bulk, than you would of grit.

That's why a little Old Dutch goes so far in any kind of cleaning.

It actually covers more area, does a better, quicker, cheaper job than grit ever could do. Each flake lies flat and erases the dirt while only the sharp corners of grit touch and scratch at the dirt.

Once you let Old Dutch take charge of your floor cleaning you'll never do the work any other way.

NEW RAILROAD TAPS RICHES OF ALASKA'S HEART

BY BOB BECKER.

ARTICLE NO. 2.
Uncle Sam's Alaskan railroad is almost completed. One large steel bridge across the Tanana river at Neenana is yet to be put in position. When this engineering feat is accomplished the coast and the interior of Alaska will be linked by 467 miles of steel. This new government railroad penetrates the heart of Alaska and marks an epoch in the history of the territory. Where in years past it meant wintry travel with dogs to go from Seward into the interior, now miners, tourists, schoolteachers, and business men will step aboard one of Uncle Sam's trains, sleep in a Pullman, and be in Neenana in thirty hours and in Fairbanks, the biggest town of the interior, a few hours later.

Road Authorized in 1914.
The building of the road was authorized in March, 1914. Congress appropriated $54,000,000 for it. After many surveys engineers selected the present route as the one that would tap the most promising resources of the interior. Work on the road was begun in 1915. Riding in a comfortable observation car on the way from Seward to Neenana, the average tourist will hardly appreciate the gigantic task that has been accomplished in laying this artery of steel.

It was a case of penetrating the raw, unclaimed wilderness in a land of short summers. There were no wagon roads available to transport supplies. Labor had to be imported from the States. The primitive state of the country through which the railroad now goes can best be appreciated when it is known that just four towns were along the right of way when the road was started.

Low Rail Rates Planned.
The railroad is administered by a commission of the department of the interior. Col. Frederick Moars is chairman and at present in charge of the road.

Passenger and freight rates have been made extremely low considering operating costs. The passenger rate is approximately 6 cents a mile. This is one-half of the tariff rate on the Copper River railroad and about one-third the rate on the White Pass railroad, which connects Skagway and White Horse. A special low tariff has been placed on "immigrant's movables," including stock, farm machinery, and other necessities which settlers would bring to start farming.

Where It Will Get Tonnage.
Critics of the government policy in building a railroad in unsettled Alaska invariably ask, "where is the railroad going to get any tonnage?" Col. Moars in reply to this question says: "The only way to get tonnage is to go after it. In the first place, we are making every effort to develop the country and bring in settlers. That's why we have this low rate on "immigrant's movables." The more settlers we have the more freight we will get. Wherever a region or a development proposition warrants it we will build spurs from the main line.

For instance, the Healy River Coal company is going to open up its big mine this fall. It has the money to mine, ship, and market its coal. This means tonnage for the railroad if a spur track is put in, as the mine is about five miles from the main line. This spur will be completed in November.

"Of course, we do not expect to break even, at least not for some time. Until the interior is more thickly settled, until tourists come in greater numbers to enjoy the beauties of the McKinley Park region, until the varied resources of the interior are developed, this road will not pay. But without the railroad the interior of Alaska never will develop, and without the exploitation of these resources the road never will get tonnage. Each is dependent upon the other."

OBREGON FIGHTS CONGRESS PLAN TO RUSH OIL LAW

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.)

Mexico City, Nov. 14.—A deputation of members of congress called on President Obregon last night to urge the necessity of undertaking immediate reforms in article 27 of the Mexican constitution, which covers legislation relating to oil lands.

The president tried to make the deputation see the necessity of going slow on reforms of the oil law because of the many interests, national and foreign, concerned.

A committee, under orders of the president, has been working on the reform of oil legislation for the last month. When Senor Obregon recently received the first report of the committee he returned it for modification. Evidently the president is sparing for time with congress in order to present measures which will be suitable to the Mexican government, bankers, and oil interests and to the American government.

As an inducement not to hurry oil legislation, Senor Obregon has promised to call an extra session of congress to consider this and other urgent reforms of the constitution and social laws.

Crowd Is Greater than at Opening Presentation.

BY EDWARD MOORE

Since the opera at the Auditorium this season is so entirely lyric but eminently practical, it may be well to preface the account of Mary Garden and "Carmen" last night with a statement of the reasons for its selection and the surrounding territory showed its appreciation of the new system by the eminently practical method of thrusting $1,238 more into the pockets of the audience than there is in the corresponding night of last season.

Wherefore it might be concluded with some degree of justification that Mary Garden's "Carmen" last night constituted a good deal of a joint life saver for second nights in an opera season. The opening night almost invariably means a comparison with the previous night, and the comparison registers a slump. But whether for civic reasons or because of the combination of artist and opera afterward, last night's denouement was a triumph. The night on the slope has been customary

The combination has always been a popular one, perhaps the more so because it is puzzling. Miss Gardner's Carmen, most intellectual and accordingly the least emotional—except perhaps in the case of the Carmen, yet the cause of profound emotion in all the other characters. It must be so; the story insists upon it. Perhaps the best explanation of it all is the fact that the Carmen is a woman of stormy browed manner of people and events, and many people like to be managed.

It was a good show, with many elements that had caused her to leave the stage still there, with some newcomers in the cast, and with one important debut. The last belonged to Richard Hageman, associate musical director, who, after a brief introduction, lifted his baton for the first time over the organization.

Apparently the company in acquiring his services has made an important artistic gain. It is not surprising that those who, during some half dozen summers watched him and his methods at Ravinia, but it is none the less gratifying to realize that the Chicago opera has secured another first class conductor.

First class he certainly was in his debut. Only a few operas in all the long list run with as high percentage of pure gold in the score as "Carmen" and "The Barber of Seville." The conductor to find and reproduce the gold. This Mr. Hagenman did, emphasizing the dramatic and the comic features there, incidentally, and as part of his job, controlling several sets of jumpy nerves on the stage, of which he called him a success, and to that verdict an additional vote is here appended.

Miss Gordon was in considerably higher spirits than she has always formerly been in this part. Smiles were in evidence, and the audience was in the first sections of the piece, and she was not averse to making a romp out of some parts of it, or running off with the audience to the balcony where, in which last her example was followed, not with the best results, by George Baklanoff in the "Toreador."

Where she showed at her musical and dramatic best, during the period allotted for a critic on a morning paper to remain, was in the quintet of the second act. This was very nearly ideal. Miss Garden's companions in it were Melvena Passmore, Irene Pavloeka, Jose Mojica, and Desiré De-France.

Credit for another important phase of the performance is due to Riccardo Martin, who sang the rôle of Don Jose. He did it all honestly, and in many ways excellently, singing warmly and smoothly, acting it not so much like a suffering and maligned saint as like a human being who had ambitions, feelings, and distress. Mary McCormie was also well applauded for her Mi-cæla.

Edith Mason and Josef Lhevinne were the joint artists in the first Kinsolving morning musicale at the Blackstone hotel yesterday morning. Miss Mason had not been in the best of vocal conditions for several days before, but faced her program resolutely, warmed to it, and ended with a considerable personal triumph. Mr. Lhevinne played piano works of the ancient and modern schools with a brilliant and somewhat hard finish, scoring particularly with some pieces by Liszt.

OPERA BOX PARTIES

But the opera parties were numerous. Especially attractive were the many young people in the box parties. Miss Margaret Ender was chaperoning the Lowdens, Florence, Harriet, and Frances, daughters of former Gov. and Mrs. Frank O. Lowden. Miss Lowden wore a blue velvet; Harriet wore a white tulle and lace dress with a very full skirt, and Frances, the youngest, who is to make her debut Friday at a tea at the Drake, was wearing a blue velvet. Escorting them were Robert Whiting and Robert Furness.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lihme had with them a bevy of beautiful young girls, including their elder daughter, Olga, Miss Anna Wrenn, Miss Frances Taft, and Miss Mary Wrenn, all debutantes of last season. Miss Lihme's blonde beauty was emphasized by a gown of soft silver cloth trimmed with crystal; Miss Wrenn's gown was of black velvet; Miss Taft wore a gown of red velvet, and Miss Wrenn wore a gown of blue velvet.

Mrs. William H. Mitchell II, one of the beautiful young women in society, was looking unusually handsome in a gown of claret red velvet trimmed with large jet beads. She and her husband, Mrs. Harriet McLaughlin, and Sydney Gardner were with Mr. and Mrs. J. Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barney Goodspeed, Miss Helen Hoyne, and Thomas Elington were unusually handsome in a gown of white tulle trimmed with bands of crystal and pearls. Miss Hoyne's gown was of black tulle, brocaded in silver and she wore a wide silver band around her head.

Miss Louise Rodgers, who is making her debut this evening, was escorted to Miss Jane Wright, Miss Ann Kales, Charles Anderson of Milwaukee and William Barling.

With Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick were Mr. and Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, John S. Russell, Arthur T. Mills and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson.

Charles H. Swift had as guests Miss Marcia Warren, Mrs. John Glass, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Taft and Daniel Peterkin.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hibbard, Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour and Mr. and Mrs. W. Edwin Stanley were together. Near them were Mrs. Rosecrans Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Cable, Frederick E. Bristol and Donald M. Ryerson.

Mrs. Potter Palmer stood out as one of the handsomest women in the horse-shoe of boxes. She was wearing a gown of black velvet, made very simply, and her jewels were a diamond tiara and a necklace of large diamonds. She and Mr. Palmer were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Hutchinson, as were also Mr. and Mrs. James Llewellyn and Lawrence H. Clarke.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Dixon entertained a family party including Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Dixon and Mr. and Mrs. William B. Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull had with them Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Dempster.

Employing Bronze Ribbon for the Black Velvet Frock

by Corinne Love

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence]—That it is a co-gent season is indicated by the high degree of favor accorded to cocoa, coque, and coards. Regarding the last named, we do not seem able to recover from these plaited motifs of ribbon which, introduced several years ago, were practiced so assiduously on the summer frock. They are still exploited on some of the newest frocks, wraps, and hats.

We show the coards today carried out in bronze plaited ribbon on a frock of black velvet. The motifs on the coards are small in comparison with the more mature specimens which punctuate the rippling side panels of the skirt.

The coards is, of course, only one manifestation of ribbon popularity. Much of the ribbon and braid, too, now being used in metallic, and we find one of these trimmings the most frequent complement of the velvet frock. For black velvet, bronze or gold is employed. For blue velvet, the usual contrast. And by the way, the combination of black and bronze illustrated here is echoed in many fashionable costumes. In fact, black and tan now have the fashion situation well under control.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Vegetable Oyster Soup. It is a wonder that salsify still comes to market, and that it does not drop out of cultivation just as skirret, a vegetable somewhat like it which is frequently mentioned in books on vegetable gardening.

One of these says: "Salsify, also known as the oyster plant or vegetable oyster, because of its flavor, is not generally used as a vegetable consumer."

It is one of the vegetables the French do not grow ecstatic about, although they use it in a number of ways—the young leaves for salad and the root as a vegetable and for cream soups.

Black salsify has an ugly nickname, the French salsify is an annual salad plant—grown for its leaves, of which several cuttings may be had in the course of a season. The leaves have a muttony flavor." Corn salad or fetidus or field salad—it has no end of names—may be said to have somewhat that sort of a flavor. There seems to be one other salsify, at least. It is called the Spanish oyster plant or golden thistle.

There are usually six roots to a bunch of salsify—at least some seasons—and this amount will make from four to six cups of cream soup, and the inner leaves may be sprinkled over a green salad before it is dressed.

Drop the roots after they are washed and brushed into boiling water for from five to ten minutes or until the skin rubs off easily. Salsify blacks almost instantly when it is cut up raw, and it will not darken if prepared in a reasonable time after it is thus blanched. Slice thin, and cook in a small amount of water with a bit of celery and sliced carrot. It will cook in about twenty minutes. Sieve, use any liquid it was cooked in; add hot milk and butter with other seasonings. A good proportion of milk is two cups to a cup and a half of salsify.

Gala Night Planned to Aid Teachers of Good Housekeeping

Mrs. Leeds Mitchell of 1309 Ritchie street, who is treasurer of the Association of Housekeeping centers, announced plans for a gala night early in January, from which the directors of the association hope to realize a profit sum to carry on the work of the centers.

A special performance of "Sally" with Marilyn Miller, has been arranged for the evening of Monday, Jan. 1. The main floor and boxes have been taken over by the committee in charge. Directors of the association include Mrs. Arthur Bissell, Mrs. David S. Cook Jr., Mrs. John J. Mitchell Jr., Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift, Mrs. Kay Wood, and Mrs. Edward Yeomans.

The centers are ordinary flats in the congested districts which serve as models for the housewives of the neighborhood. Here the women are taught to convert their living quarters into "homes" at the least possible cost. Classes of little girls and even groups of boys are on the waiting list for the various kinds of instruction that are furnished.

There will be two debutantes today, Miss Louise Rodgers and Miss Louise Seales. Miss Rodgers will be presented at a tea at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Rodgers, of 44 Belmont place, from 4 until 6 o'clock. Assisting will be Miss Margaret King, Miss Carol Bittling, Miss Jane Scriven, Miss Betty Pitts, Miss Frances Heyworth, Miss Ellen Thorne, Miss Nancy Newell, Miss Elizabeth Smith, Miss Marion Warner, and Miss Jane Wright. Mrs. William V. D. Wright, Mrs. Theodore A. Shaw Jr., Mrs. William H. Scriven, Mrs. Howard V. D. Shaw, and Mrs. James O. Heyworth will assist also. Miss Rodgers attended St. Timothy's school at St. Charles, Mo., and last year was a student at Miss Nixon's school at Florence.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles S. Seales will give a tea this afternoon from 4 to 7 o'clock at their residence, 1020 Ardmore avenue, to introduce their daughter, Louise. Assisting will be Mrs. Ralph M. Shaw, Mrs. Charles V. Freeman, and Mrs. Harold Frank, and assisting will be Miss Vera Anderson, Miss Barbara Dunham, Miss Margaret McCaughy, Miss Frances Louise Crow, Miss Margaret O'Meara, and Miss Allison Thresher. Dr. and Mrs. Seales will give a dinner tonight for the assistants and their escorts, later taking them to a theater. Dr. and Mrs. Seales will give a tea dance for their daughter at the Drake Tuesday, Dec. 26. Miss Seales was graduated from the Mount Vernon academy in Washington, D. C., last year. She has invitations for the tea Mr. and Mrs. Augustus A. Carpenter of 1130 Lake Shore drive were to give this afternoon to present to society their daughter, Alice, were recalled last week to a recent bereavement. They also recalled invitations to a dinner dance they had planned for Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Irwin of 238 East Walton place are giving a tea Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. William P. Powell of Ottawa, Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Haines are giving a dinner party for Miss Jane Lawrence, debutante daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum, next Monday evening at the Hotel Ambassadors, where the Haines are spending the winter. Later the party will attend Mr. and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter's musical and cotillion at 12 o'clock.

Mrs. Charles Shepard Reed of 12 South street will give a luncheon on Tuesday, Nov. 21, for her niece, Miss Gertrude Bissell, and the girls who will assist at Miss Bissell's debut on Thursday.

Mrs. Hubbard Casselberry of 1342 North Dearborn street gave a bridge party yesterday afternoon for Mrs. William Gold Hibbard III.

Mrs. Frank H. Starkweather of 1044 Lake Shore boulevard, Evanston, and her daughters, Mrs. Royce Armstrong and Miss Doris Starkweather, gave a tea yesterday from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Miss Katherine Lloyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Edgar Lloyd of Hubbard Woods, is spending the winter with her grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Theobald of Baltimore, Md. Miss Lloyd will make her debut there at the first bachelors' cotillion.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Frederick Childs and Mrs. Madeleine Childs of Lake Forest are at 222 East Delaware place for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Andrews and Miss Grace Andrews of Highland Park will come in to the Ambassador hotel for the winter today. Miss Andrews' management is under the direction of 607 Rush street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Homer Eldred of Carrollton, Ill., was announced recently. The wedding will be an event of the early summer, probably late in May or early in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle H. Reynolds closed their Lake Forest residence yesterday and will move to visit her daughter, Mrs. Robert E. Peacock, at the Webster hotel.

Mrs. George W. Anderson, after an absence of several years from Chicago, will arrive next week to visit her daughter, Mrs. Robert E. Peacock, at the Webster hotel.

HARD TO FIGURE ILLINOIS ATTACK FOR MAROON TILT

HELP! HELP! CRIES HUFF

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Please tell 'The Tribune' to tell the world that we have no tickets for Saturday's Chicago game left at the door. "I'll have to leave unless something is done to stop the telephones and telegrams. We are sorry, but we just haven't got 'em down to the stadium yet."

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Having shattered Wisconsin's championship hopes by defeating the Badgers, 3 to 0, in the biggest upset of western conference football this fall, gridiron fans in the section are wondering whether Illinois will do the same to Chicago when the two eleven meet on Stagg field Saturday.

Since last Saturday close followers of the game have been trying to figure out why this year's Orange and Blue eleven is such an inconsistent performer. The team played miserable football against Northwestern the week before Wisconsin was beaten. Any person who saw the Purple clash would not have given a lead time for Illinois' chances against the Badgers.

Varied Offense Success.
The secret of Illinois' success is due largely to the various forms of offense which it has used this year. Constant change in its style of attack has thrown confusion into the ranks of opponents, with the result a set defense cannot be evolved with any degree of certainty.

A scout of a certain conference institution has seen Illinois in action five times this year and on each occasion the downstater's offense was changed. At times when the scouts thought they had figured the basic principles of the Illinois offense, Coach Zupke rearranged the whole thing on the following Saturday, with the result the scout knows what kind of an attack Illinois will use against Chicago.

Something New for Maroons.
Zupke apparently has been figuring all fall on how to get the best results out of his green team. After every game he figured how the offense can be improved, with the result the attack is changed weekly. While Chicago scouts have seen Illinois in action all season, they have not watched the changes which will be used on the week end.

In the Michigan game Illinois used a line shift which partially resembled the Minnesota shift. This apparently was done to get McMillen, the star guard, out to lead the interference and at times shift him to oppose the strongest point in the Wolverine forward line.

Result of Zupke's Effort.
Since the opening of the season Zupke has worked long and conscientiously trying to get every iota of value out of the team, individually and collectively. Backs have been used in the line and vice versa. Time has been spent developing place and drop kicks, with the result two games have been won by the clever field goal kicking of Coughlin and Clark.

Results of these games plainly show Illinois to be a strong defensive eleven. It will be prepared to meet the line plunging of John Thomas and his brother, Harry. Jimmy Pyott may expect a little trouble driving off the line, while Chicago will have no advantages in end play. Illinois has lost during line, one which will tilt the Maroon forward will all the way.

MAROONS PLAN SURPRISE

Intense on developing something that will astonish the 10,000 Illinois rooters who will invade the Midway Saturday afternoon for the Chicago-Illinois grid game, three squads of Maroons commenced their drill yesterday, running through new plays and polishing up on those which have been effective.

During the early part of the practice all eleven of first string men scrimmaged against the fresh, defending team. The goal against the Illinois passes which were exemplified in the year-long play. The freshmen were able to gain but little.

In the lineup which faced the freshmen, Ralph King was pivot man, Capt. Bill Lewis flanked him at right guard, and Joe Fendelick at left. Fletcher and Gandy worked at tackle. Wilcox played at left end, Lloyd Roark regular right guard, holding down the other wing position. The changing of Roark from guard to end may be significant.

Otto Strohmeyer worked at quarter throughout the scrimmage and signal practice yesterday. Bill Zorn, John Thomas, Harry Thomas, Felix Caruso, Jimmy Pyott, and Cully Byler holding down the backfield berths.

ILLINI IN STIFF DRILL

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Illinois today went at it hammer and tongs to prepare for the Maroons. Small Schultz may have won the honor of starting at full back, it is believed. Zupke is pretty well impressed with the work of the sophomores in the Wisconsin game, and just now favors him for the job, despite his inexperience. Woodward and Hill are being worked to get their jobs back in their physical line permit. Illinois seems to be in fine condition.

Illini have no illusions. They know that Stagg is a great team and that they must battle uphill.

FIGHTS SCALPER CHARGES.

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 14.—Russell Griffen, one of the alleged ticket scalpers arrested last week, returned to the club house today for the first time yesterday afternoon. A banquet for the freshmen team is scheduled Thursday at the North Shore hotel. It has been arranged by former "N" men and business men of Evanston.

THE GUMPS—JUST PLAIN LITTLE MINNIE

TIGERS, FULL OF PEP, MAKE READY FOR YALE

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Princeton's varsity football warriors returned to work with renewed zeal this afternoon in preparation for the grand finale of the 1922 season—the classic clash with Yale in Palmer stadium here Saturday.

Owing to the severe weather the team received in the Harvard game Head Coach Bill Roper withheld his men from any semblance of scrimmage today and contented himself with a snappy drill in signs and a crack at the bagful of new plays that he has kept covered.

Drill "Nose for the Ball."
Fundamentals of the game were stressed and the whole squad were given instruction in recovering a "nose" ball, which proved the big factor in the 10 to 3 victory over Harvard and also provided the points that beat Chicago.

Most of the first string men who were excused from practice yesterday were out on the field. Diarmuid placed Griman at quarter and Howard replaced Snively at guard in the scrimmage. After the squad instruction in recovering a "nose" ball, the backs and ends were instructed in punting and receiving the ball.

YALE LOSES TWO STARS

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Yale's two most brilliant stars, Charley O'Brien and Bill Malloy, were probably unable to start the Princeton game. Neither has recovered from injuries which have kept them on the sidelines for weeks.

BADGERS LOSE PACIFIST WAYS IN HOT DRILL

Madison, Wis., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—A change to good weather had its effect on the Badger squad today for it was up on its toes and working hard in practice. It is likely that the Illinois defeat will make Wisconsin a harder team for Michigan to beat. The team was in luck principally in the aggressive last Saturday and consequently most of this week's work will consist in offensive playing in order to whip up a line that will give good interference.

Scrimmage followed a signal drill today until it was dark. There were no serious injuries in the Illini game and every man will be able to start against the Wolverines. It is also hoped that Jack Harris will be able to play, since he was out in uniform and ran signals at right half.

MICHIGAN LINEMEN HURT

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Michigan's line problem again comes to the front as a real difficulty to be solved by the announcer today. Day after day the line has been in trouble. The line will not be in condition to work against Wisconsin Saturday. They are out with injuries, and although frantic efforts have been made in nursing them back to condition, it is doubtful if they will have recovered sufficiently to be used in the final game with Minnesota.

PURPLE PLANS ON 'SPECIAL' TO IOWA

Arrangements for a special train to Iowa City, Nov. 25, when Northwestern plays the Hawkeyes, are under way. If 250 students and boosters sign up to make the trip, it will be assured, according to Dwight Mills, president of the athletic association at Northwestern.

A light workout last night gave the Purple a chance to take it easy after the victory over Purdue Saturday. Coach Thistlethwaite and Trafton spent a long time in trying to develop a punter to replace Bob Wienecke, who received severe internal injuries in the Illinois game. Bob declared that he will be sharp for the Iowa game. The coaches are taking no chances with Mommouth Saturday.

Patterson, Wolf and McKelwain are all being groomed to replace Wienecke. Davis, who twisted his leg last week, returned to the club house today for the first time yesterday afternoon. A banquet for the freshmen team is scheduled Thursday at the North Shore hotel. It has been arranged by former "N" men and business men of Evanston.

MENACES TO BADGER PEACE OF MIND

FRANKLIN CAPPON.
Half Back Kipke of Michigan is one of the most dangerous players in the conference. He can punt, drop kick, pass and run. Any one of these qualifications would make him a valuable player. He and Full Back Cappon are two of the most valuable assets for the Wolverines' important struggle with Wisconsin at Ann Arbor on Saturday.

NOTES FROM THE FOOTBALL CAMPS

AT IOWA.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—With but two days left for practice on Iowa field, Coach Jones led his aspiring champions through a mud soaked scrimmage today. The players used new and good looking formations designed to meet the expected Buckeye attack.

Are lights were used for the first time this season, allowing a few more minutes' practice. Indications are that Parkin will not start in Saturday's game. He was on the field in civilian clothes today and may not appear in uniform until Saturday. An offense will be built around Rich and Selling.

AT OHIO.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—A steady drizzle kept the Buckeyes from a regular workout on Ohio field tonight. Coach J. W. Wicks, however, took the men to the gymnasium, where they were issued tennis shoes for a regular signal drill under cover.

For years Ohio State has depended on mass interference. In the Iowa game Saturday will see shift plays and four men interference coupled with double passes in the back field. More men are being placed on the receiving end of forward passes.

AT PURDUE.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Having no game scheduled for Saturday, the Purdue team is enjoying a short rest before the final job of preparing for the Indiana game Nov. 25. It will be homecoming day at Purdue and a crowd of 8,000 is expected.

AT INDIANA.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Water and mud on the field failed to stop the Indiana workout today, which consisted only of a signal drill. Tackle France, whose injured vertebrae has kept him on the sidelines, returned to the squad today.

AT CORNELL.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The Cornell football team took on a heavier program today, after two days' rest, but Coach Doherty said to it that those who were still sore from Saturday's encounter with Dartmouth had only a light drill. Raymond Buckley and Goulin were on the wings, Sullivan, Parker, and Summerville in the line, Brannon, and Flynn guards, and Richards center.

CHANGE OF FACE FOR BEARS?

Announcement from the University of California last week stated that the students and athletes were in accord on waiving their right as prospective champions of the Pacific coast intercollegiate conference, to meet a representative eleven from the eastern section in the annual New Year's day game.

It is possible that California's coolness toward the Pasadena game resulted from the fact that Penn State, an eleven already beaten, had been signed to a contract to represent the east in the big international clash, and that replacement of Penn State by W. and J. would revive California's interest in playing.

BEARS WOULD PASS UP STATE TO PLAY W. & J.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—A local newspaper prints the following:

Penn State college's 1922 football eleven will not play the University of California's gridiron team on New Year's day as the feature event of the annual tournament of Roses, according to a telegram received here late tonight from a prominent source on the Pacific coast.

Instead the ANDY SMITH, Washington and [Tribune Photo.] Jefferson eleven of Washington, Pa., which held the Bears to a scoreless tie last year, would be asked to return for another meeting at Pasadena, provided the State college officials agree to cancel their obligations with the Pacific coast conference, which invited Beade's crew west this year.

It is felt in California that Wash. Jeff., recognized in that section as the logical eastern champion, should again come west and play off the scoreless tie of 1921 against the California eleven coached by Andy Smith.

Just what has been done towards bringing about the invitations of the "Presidents" and the cancelling of the State game by the Pacific Coast conference could not be learned.

ONLY ONE IN STATES, SAYS COLUMBIA U. OF SPECTACLED TACKLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Lee Meadows, the best spectacle plucker of the Phillips, has a rival at Columbia who has Lee backed off the boards. He is Ed Fischer, tackle on Buck O'Neil's eleven, who plays the gentle game of football wearing eyeglasses. The Columbian lays claim to being the only football player in the country who wears spectacles.

On last year's freshmen team he managed to overcome the handicap and was the big star besides, but this year his eyesight became worse and desperate measures were found necessary. An optician among the alumni was called to the rescue and with the aid of a sporting goods house devised a special leather headgear of stiff leather which Fischer straps across his forehead. Imbedded in the leather are specially prescribed lenses of unbreakable glass.

Fischer will wear the new contrivance in the Dartmouth game Saturday.

AT MINNESOTA.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 14.—[Special.]—The Minnesota football team had another day of rest, but while the varsity crimples were being mended by the trainers, freshmen were getting additional drill in Michigan plays for use in scrimmage next week. Spaulding is spending the days preparing a new offense for the last game with Michigan. He has hinted that the Gophers will show nothing but passes and that means a spectacular game. Eklund and Gross, linemen, were out warming up today to limber up their injured legs. Both get around with the aid of a crutch, but they'll be ready by a week from Saturday.

Ted Cox, big right tackle, will play no more this season because of his repeatedly injured right knee. Coach Spaulding and physicians fear further effort would terminate his athletic career.

MISSOURI GRID COACH RESIGNS

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 14.—Tom Kelly, head football coach at the University of Missouri, has resigned, effective immediately. Dean E. J. McCluskey, acting president of the institution, announced today he was resigning, but it has been rumored for a week that a shakeup in the Tigers' coaching staff was due, following the arrival of Chuck Lewis, former Missouri captain, who has been assisting in coaching the eleven.

Kelly came here from the University of Idaho, where he was assistant director. He is a graduate of the University of Chicago.

IMPORTANT PREP GRIDIRON GAMES HERE SATURDAY

BY LARRY DAILEY.

Probability of a tie between Oak Park and Evanston for the Suburban league championship.

Ship looms as likely, following last Saturday's games, in which the former defeated the previously unbeaten Evanston eleven and the latter trounced Deerfield. Oak Park and Evanston are the only unbeaten teams in the conference circuit. They played a 7 to 7 tie a few weeks ago.

The league schedule is complete this week, and Evanston and Oak Park should decide the championship. Capt. Solheim's Evanston eleven meets New Trier at Winnetka, and New Trier may spring a surprise and hold the university city last closely, following its defeat of Waukegan last week. Oak Park plays Deerfield, and is figured to win, but the 1921 champions probably will offer formidable opposition.

Marshall Meets Bowen.

Marshall and Bowen, sole unbeaten teams in Division B of the Chicago league, clash next Saturday at White City for the title. The schedule, completed last Saturday, proved that these eleven are exceptionally well matched, and they should offer a well played, hard fought battle.

Cosmo H. R. Crook's team, having come through unbeaten in Division A of the city circuit, thereby becoming champion of its section, awaits the clash between Hyde Park and Lindholm to decide the southern honors and the right to meet for the Chicago prep title. This game will be played at 2 o'clock Saturday at White Sox park, it was announced last night.

Lindholm First Victor.
Lindholm beat Hyde Park, 14 to 6, two weeks ago last Saturday, but Harrison later arose and smote Lindholm, and Hyde Park then crushed Harrison, leaving Hyde Park and Lindholm to fight it out again.

Senn is expected to offer much sturdier resistance to the south section change this year than Austin offered for Hyde Park last year, when the latter won by a heavy score. In fact, many north side partisans incline to the belief that the titleholders of this section will prove a Tartar to either Lindholm or Hyde Park.

Why the Danger of "Secret" Diseases Lies in their Secrecy

WHEN, a generation or so ago, medical science began in earnest its fight against smallpox, there was no thought of secrecy. Indeed, why should there have been? It was recognized as purely a medical problem and treated as such. Education, open discussion, vaccination—all these and other factors played important parts in bringing the disease under control until today it has been virtually eliminated in civilized communities.

The same with yellow fever. Typhoid is going. The fight against tuberculosis still wages—and signs are not lacking that Science is on the verge of victory—that some day the great White Plague will be a thing of the past.

Medical Science has long known that the twin venereal or "social" diseases exact a far greater average yearly death toll than tuberculosis, or than any other single disease.

Why? They are not incurable. They do not present any baffling mysteries to modern medical science. Why, then, do these scourges still thrive with hardly any perceptible diminishment?

One word answers the question—"Secrecy." For too long has the public attitude been one of maintaining silence—a state of mind which accepts abhorrent conditions passively and with the thought that they are necessary evils and not to be talked about.

Secrecy—silence—the soft pedal—the public—yes! And that is the very reason why countless thousands of victims of venereal diseases have given up their lives; why other countless thousands are on crutches, in insane asylums, in hospital surgical wards, are stumbling through life blind from birth. For in secrecy has always lain the real danger of these so-called "secret diseases."

Not until the public conscience has been awakened—public opinion crystallized—public action intelligently directed—can any real headway be made against these scourges.

Such was the belief of the broad-minded, public spirited Chicago citizens whose names appear in this advertisement.

With that thought uppermost in mind they organized the Public Health Institute. Through this agency they proposed to bring this entire subject into the open, issue a warning against the dangers of secrecy—and its equally dangerous offspring, quackery—and fight "social" diseases to a finish according to the most approved scientific methods, both preventively and curatively.

This campaign of enlightenment, education, enlistment of public co-operation and of practical measures adopted for the prevention and cure of "social" diseases has been consistently carried forward by the Public Health Institute for more than two years.

From the very conception of the idea of the Public Health Institute it was recognized that it should necessarily be operated on broad lines. Effective combat against venereal infection should lose sight of financial gain. Treatment facilities, especially, should be easily available to the infected person regardless of his or her financial condition.

The Public Health Institute turns no one away for immediate lack of money. However, the purpose is not to maintain it as a charitable project, but on a basis that will enable it to be self-supporting in the conduct and expansion of its services. Consistent with this aim the fees are made as low as possible.

No one need feel the slightest hesitancy in coming to the Institute. The utmost possible privacy is assured. Kindly, sympathetic physicians make a most thorough examination and exhaustive diagnosis of each case; and every diagnosis is verified by exact chemical, bacteriological and serological tests conducted in its own laboratory, the most completely equipped in America for that purpose.

The treatment prescribed and administered in each case is the most advanced and successful that medical science affords. The utmost confidence can be placed in the treatment if the patient will but follow the advice of the Institute's physicians.

At the Public Health Institute there are two distinct departments—one for men and, on a different floor, one for women and children where trained nurses are in constant attendance to minister to the increased comfort of the patient.

Again let it be understood that "secret" diseases have visited their untold misery upon the human race under cover of darkness and ignorance. The forces now engaged in this work of eradication have brought the enemy from cover.

In order that the ground already gained may not be lost, in order to go ahead with assurance of full accomplishment, hearty co-operation on the part of the public is needed.

It is sought—and it is believed it will be found—in the hearty support of every right-minded man and woman in Chicago.

Employers can help in the good work of the Public Health Institute and add to the efficiency of their working forces by letting their employees know the facts about venereal disease and the service of this Institute. On request we supply employers with placards for posting in proper places, also literature for distribution among employees.

Top hogs yesterday dropped below the $8.50 mark, the lowest point since early in January. Buyers took advantage of heavy offerings and forced a general decline of 10c, yet the market closed strong, with 11,000 estimated left in the pens. Fresh and "stale" offerings totaled $3.00. Best sold early at $8.40 and later at $8.45, with day's average at $8.30, against $8.30 Monday, $8.25 a week ago, and $8.70 a year ago. Heavy packers were scarce and generally steady.

Several thousand fewer cattle arrived than was expected yesterday, and with a good demand value ruled steady. Competition was brisk and everything suitable changed hands. Quality graded rather poor, few selling above $12.00, with two loads fancy 1,250 lb steers to Morris for shipment to New York at $12.50. Next best offerings went at $12.25, with 1,017 lb Texas bred steers fed in Iowa at $12.00. Common steers and butcher stock closed weak to 10c lower. Range cattle ruled steady.

Lamb Supply Small.

The smallest Tuesday sheep receipts since June 27 arrived yesterday and sold comparatively slow at steady to 25c higher prices. Choice fed western yearlings and native lambs reflected the most gain, extreme top reaching a 25c higher level at $14.75. Choice 55 lb fed western yearlings brought $13.00, 121 lb aged wethers $9.50, and light ewes $7.75. A band of 75 lbs Idaho feeding lambs featured the trade by selling to a country buyer at $14.25, top for that class.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 11,000 cattle, 21,000 hogs, and 18,000 sheep, against 12,187 cattle, 19,377 hogs, and 17,185 sheep the corresponding Wednesday a year ago.

WASSERMANN CO., BROKERS, FORCED TO BANKRUPTCY

New York, Nov. 14.—The financial affairs of the stock brokerage firm of Wassermann Bros. collapsed dramatically today after the head of the firm, Jesse A. Wassermann, had committed suicide in his uptown home. Shortly before last midnight a maid found Wassermann lying partly submerged in his bath tub, with a bullet in his brain and a revolver near by. He had left several letters, among them one to his wife in Germany, from whom he had been separated, bidding her good-by and saying he "could see no other ending."

At noon today the failure of Wassermann Bros. was announced from the rostrum of the New York stock exchange. Shortly thereafter co-partners in the concern, fearing a run of creditors, accepted without protest the appointment of a receiver in an involuntary petition in bankruptcy filed in federal court by a client to whom the firm owed $42,000. Unsecured liabilities were estimated at $770,000, with available credits of about $500,000 with which to meet outstanding claims.

BOARD OF TRADE MEMBERSHIPS.

Benjamin G. Humphreys, American representative of Alexander Rodas & Co., New York, Liverpool and New Orleans, and located at Memphis, Tenn., was elected to membership in the Chicago board of trade yesterday. Other new members were Alvin Ford of Port Wayne, Ind., and J. E. Moore of Moore, Leonard & Lynch, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The New York Times.

New York, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—Both the stock market and the foreign exchange market advanced in the early hours today but declined again in the later trading, ending below Monday's final prices.

In both markets the governing force behind the movements seemed to be the same—extensive repurchases for the "bear account" when the day began, followed by renewed attacks from the same professional quarters. In this renewal of speculative pressure, stocks suffered more than European exchange.

At the end of the day the net declines in two or three dozen active stocks ranged from 2 points upward.

The character of the market gave the impression that the decline reflected merely the momentum acquired by the unexpectedly rapid downward movement of the last few days.

Under the circumstances, this was accentuated by closing out of unlucky speculations for the rise, undertaken in the days when "inflation markets" and overnight acquisition of wealth through "stock dividends" were Wall street's creed.

In today's early rise of foreign exchange, repurchases were for a time
